

R 1790 Bay Council approves city tax cut

BY TRACI BONNEY

Bay St. Louis has drastically reduced its municipal tax.

The City Council approved an 85 percent tax levy reduction Tuesday during a special meeting called for setting the municipal millage and approving the FY '92-'93 budget.

The city's millage, set at 54.95, includes 49.95 mills for the school district tax and only five mills for the city. After deducting 1/4 mill for fire protection, the remainder is divided between the library and parks and playgrounds, with the bulk of the levy going to the latter.

Last year's millage was 80.80. The 25.85-mill reduction is entirely in the general fund levy.

The municipal reduction equates to a 20 percent drop in overall taxes paid by city residents and business owners.

Mayor Edward Favre said the reduction will benefit anyone who pays city taxes, including those whose vehicles are registered in Bay St. Louis.

Favre said some increases in other revenues, along with anticipated gaming revenues, are expected to compensate for the reduction in the general fund levy.

He explained that of the $1.8 million Casino Magic agreed to pay the city in lieu of boarding fees, $1.5 million is budgeted and the other $300,000 will be reserved.

The four City Council members present (John Wilkerson was absent) unanimously approved the millage, as well as the proposed $10.9 million city budget.

CITY BUDGET

The budget earmarks funds to give all city employees raises, with the average raise being about 7½ percent; purchase a new city hall annex on Court Street; spruce up the existing

City Hall building; purchase and renovate the railroad depot; and make arrangements for the planned Amtrak passenger service.

Add 13 staff members to the police, fire and public works departments; purchase needed equipment for several departments; double the current paving project; start a sidewalk installation project and implement various beautification plans throughout the city; continue expanding utility service into the annexed areas; and finalize the new city zoning ordinance and com-

Supervisors set budget

BY TRACI BONNEY

The board of supervisors adopted a $13 million budget for the county Tuesday, and approved a decrease in county school taxes.

At the request of Superintendent Myrna Bourgeois, the supervisors approved a reduction of .02 mills in the school tax levy.

Bourgeois explained that she believed the district could not only operate within a slightly lower budget instead of requesting a two percent tax increase as has been done in the past, but could also refrain from asking for a shortfall loan for the first time in four years.

The millage approved for the school district was 41.96. It will mean a tax decrease of a few cents for homeowners living in the county school district, with the amount depending on the value of the individual's house.

The board, in approving the $13 million county budget, set the county property tax rate for 1992-93 at the same amount as it was for 1991-92.

UNIT VS. BEAT SYSTEM

The supervisors accepted a petition with more than 1,700 certified signatures requesting that a referendum be included on the November ballot to determine whether the county will continue to operate under the unit system, or whether it will return to the beat system.

Neil Nielson of Bay St. Louis, who said he prefers to see the county continue operating under the unit system, requested permission to poll the supervisors for their opinions. Board president Mike Ladner consented, but reminded Nielson that none of the supervisors were required to answer him.

When asked, Ladner and Wilmer Seymour said they favor the unit system; Howard

Bay-Waveland school board hires bond refinancing lawyer

BY TRACI BONNEY

The Bay St. Louis-Waveland school board voted unanimously Monday to retain Lucien Bourgeois as counsel for the district's planned long-term bond refinancing.

The board, in an effort to save money for the district, in August had taken under advisement two proposals for the bond refinancing. According to CPA Rick Logan, the new bonds will pay off the debt from the old bonds when those bonds are called in 1998.

Logan said the old bonds were financed with an interest rate that ranged from seven to 10 percent, while the new interest rate will probably range from three to six percent. This means a possible savings of about $100,000 in interest costs for the school district.

Monday, the school board decided to keep the two refinancing proposals under advisement until Bourgeois had been consulted.

BUSINESS AND FINANCE

The board approved: the August meetings minutes and claims docket; an emergency payment for repair work done to the sewer drain line at the high school; the district's Functional Literacy Examination remediation project grant application; an application for a $14,138 grant for a math/science education project; three sole source suppliers; the school board policies for the 1992-93 school year; and private contracts for transporting handicapped students to and from school.

Bee gone!

Swarming hive poses problem for Bay resident

By T. H. "DOC" TOUPS

Janet De La Oliva recently moved to Bay St. Louis from Alberta, Ala., and found that her new neighbors were a hive of wild honey bees. The St. George Street resident said local school children torment the creatures by throwing rocks at the hive after they get out of school. "I'm concerned for the children," she said.

The bees, usually docile, swarm when disturbed and take up temporary residence in a tree in De La Oliva's front yard. She said her 12-year-old son was stung in the head four times after one incident.

De La Oliva describes herself as a concerned environmentalist and doesn't object to the bees per se, but is worried that a child with an allergy to the insect's sting could be seriously injured or killed if attacked. Her residence is close to Bay Middle School.

She contacted City Hall and was told the city did not have a specific policy regarding honey bees.

OTHER BUSINESS
Tax Assessor/Collector
Edward Murtagh received permission to hold the next county tax sale, set for September 21-22, in the supervisors board room instead of the courtroom.

The board took under advisement a resolution, presented by John Scafide for the county planning commission, concerning individual onsite wastewater disposal. The resolution states that the commission recommends the Hancock County Floodplain Management Regulations be amended to require that development permits not be issued unless and until the applicant furnishes proof of submission of a notice of intent to the State Department of Health as required by state law.

Scafide said this amendment will not affect existing development in the county, but will discourage what he called improper development by people or companies who show no regard for state health regulations concerning sewer and septic systems.

The board also heard reports from Lloyd Compton on the status of the county's state-mandated waste collection and disposal plan, and from county officials Sam Cuevas, Larry Seal, Suzette Beech, Mike Necaise and board attorney Gerald Gex; approved the September 1-15 payroll; and recessed until 9 a.m. today to

OTHER MATTERS

During the meeting, the councilmen approved a lease agreement with Casino Magic that will allow the gambling corporation to erect an antenna on the Harry Street water tower. The mayor said the antenna will be used for the radio communications of the casino resort's internal security staff.

During workshops before and after the meeting, the councilmen heard complaints from several Turner Street residents who are displeased with Mississippi Power Company's method of upgrading its transmission lines, and spoke to the city-county library board about a proposed expansion of the headquarters library in Bay St. Louis.

In the Turner Street matter, the councilmen listened to the residents, then asked them to report within the next two weeks the results of meetings power company officials have promised to hold with the individual residents. No power company officials were present at the City Council meeting.

Concerning the library, the Council pledged its assistance in bearing the cost of adding 6,300 square feet to the facility to give the library adequate space for the services it does and should offer. The library board decided the addition needed to be made after reviewing a study made by a nationally recognized library consultant.

The City Council informally agreed to help defray the costs of the addition, but urged the library board to solicit assistance from the county board of supervisors as well. The board assured the Council it planned to do so.

The library board members also told the Council that a $200,000 grant is available for the expansion project, and that the board intends to apply for it.

The board also accepted bids for painting and windows at Bay Middle School, and for high school diplomas, and acknowledged that no bids had been received for diesel fuel.

Hurricane makeup days were discussed, and the board authorized Superintendent Paul Tisdale to speak with Hancock County Superintendent Myrna Bourgeois and set the makeup days, since some of the city district's students attend the county's vocational-technical center.

The board decided to wait until its October meeting to discuss worker's compensation insurance. The district's contract for the insurance expires that month.

PERSONNEL

The board accepted the resignations of Waveland teacher assistant Nancy Bell, North Bay teacher assistant Michell Pitre, teacher Frances Motes-Conners and payroll/insurance clerk Patricia Pitalo.

The board then approved the recommendations of Superintendent Paul Tisdale to hire teachers Connie Byrne, Judith Griffis and Neil Metheny; teacher assistants Michelle Monti and Rita Deuschle; and payroll/insurance clerk Kathleen LeBlanc.

OTHER BUSINESS

The board met with resident Earl Salaun Jr., president of the Bay St. Louis St. Vincent de Paul Society and a member of the Educational Task Force formed as a result of town meetings started following the death of Cindy Acker earlier this summer. Those town meetings were begun to address the local drug and crime problem.

Salaun expressed his concern, as well as that of the task force, about school dropout rates, disruptive students in schools, and other factors the task force members believe contribute to the county's drug and crime problem.

The board also heard from Rosary Fricke about a matter concerning her son and school personnel. The matter was discussed in executive session, along with other student and personnel matters.

Management skills class offered for older workers

BY TRACI BONNEY

South Mississippi Planning and Development District is looking for displaced workers who want to return to the work force and need to brush up on or learn management skills.

SMPDD's Older Worker Programs provide a Management Skills Training Program which offers six American Management Association courses, a job search class and job search assistance. The District has subcontracted with the University of Southern Mississippi College of International and Continuing Education to provide the training.

Successful completion of the training results in a Level I Management Certificate.

The Mississippi Department of Economic and Community Development-Employment Training Division provides the funding for the management skills program through the Job Training Partnership Act.

The courses offered include "What Managers Do," "A Manager's Guide to Human Behavior," "Communication Skills for Managers," "How to Delegate Effectively," "Effective Team Building for Managers" and "Fundamentals of Finance and Accounting for Nonfinancial Managers."

Steve Lewis, job developer with SMPDD, said of the training, "This is an educational program worth $1,800 to $2,000, and it's free to those who are eligible. But we still have to scrounge for participants."

The six week program starts Monday in Gulfport at the Westside Community Center on Hwy. 90. Applicants may qualify if they: have been terminated or laid off and are eligible for or have received unemployment compensation, and are unlikely to return to the previous job; are long-term unemployed with limited opportunity for employment in a similar occupation; are self-employed or unemployed due to local economic conditions or a natural disaster; or were terminated or received notice of termination due to permanent plant closure.

For more information about the Management Skills Training Program, call Paul Eaves at 864-3643 between 8:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. today or tomorrow.

Slot machines arrive Friday

Friday morning more than 600 slot machines will begin arriving at Casino Magic in Bay St. Louis.

Manufactured by I.G.T. of Las Vegas, they include 5¢, 25¢, 50¢, $1, $5, $25 and $100 slots.

In addition to jackpots from $1,000 to $100,000, slot machine prizes will include cars, wave runners and quad runners.

"QUOTEABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Area high school football action this Friday will see the Tigers of Bay High journeying to tangle with Forrest High in their first conference game of the season.

The Hawks of Hancock High will be hosted by the Long Beach Bearcats.

The St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws will try to get on a winning track by visiting the St. Martin Yellow Jackets.

Pass Christian's Pirates will play host to Sumrall in opening conference play.

Bay High's Tigers have gotten off to the best start in high school football in many a year this season with two victories in a row.

Last week Bay High defeated St. Stanislaus 38-6, following a opening game victory over Pass Christian 14-6.

Head coach Rocky Gaudin, in his third year at the helm of Bay High took his 'licks' as the saying goes for the two years, and it looks like 1992 will be his year.

Friday night, 3-A rated Bay High will move into conference play with a visit to Forrest County.

The Hawks of Hancock High will be trying to get back on the winning track Friday night after a loss to a highly rated Harrison Central, when they play Long Beach in Bearcat Stadium.

Head coach Irvin Favre should have the Hawks ready for the Bearcats.

The rebuilding Rock-A-Chaws of St. Stanislaus will try for their first victory of the season while on the road this week against the St. Martin's Yellow Jackets.

Ken Lyons at Stanislaus only has four returning lettermen from last year's squad.

Stanislaus has not been successful at home, losing the first two games of the season, but should be ready for the Yellow Jackets.

Your help is needed Saturday for the cleanup of Hancock County during the Mississippi Marine Trash Force's annual Coastal cleanup.

In addition to the beach in Hancock County, the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce is urging all who have adopted a highway, street, road or avenue to clean up that day, too.

Chevron has donated for the three coastal counties 2,000 canvas bags to be given away to volunteers who participate in the cleanup. Mobil is donating the bags for the cleanup.

In Hancock County, the canvas bags will be given away while supply lasts.

There will be three registration sites beginning at 8:30 a.m. Saturday in Hancock County: Bay St. Louis, Beach Boulevard at Ulman Avenue; Waveland, Garfield Ladner Pier, Beach Boulevard; and Lakeshore, Lakeshore Road.

Persons interested in preregistering prior to Saturday morning can call the chamber at 467-9048.

I know there are areas along the beach to still be assigned for Saturday's cleanup.

Did you know there are over 100 people involved in the adoption of streets, roads, highways and avenues in Hancock County? Isn't this great? Yet, we still have many more areas to be adopted.

By the way, the coordinator for adopting areas for the county is Lenne Swilley, 255-2271; Bay St. Louis and Waveland, Naomi Martin, 467-2537; and Diamondhead, Mary McDonnell, 255-1556.

I hope to see you at the cleanup on Saturday.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Did computer write all those bad checks?

Dear Editor:

HOO RAY! Our fine fearless Democrat Congressional leadership has done it again. They re-wrote history. That dumb banking scandal was all a silly mistake. Nobody wrote any bad checks, it was just a stupid computer that wrote out the wrong numbers. So now we can repolish all those bent and tarnished halos.

By the way, I wonder when they will get around to rewriting their post office problems. I have been watching and listening to history rewrites thru Roosevelt, Truman, Kennedy, Johnson, Carter, and now this. I wonder what will come up next.

FROM THE SENATE

By Senator Trent Lott

Descrambling the Cable Bill

The Senate is considering legislation called the Cable Television Bill this month, and it has been an issue with strong arguments on both sides.

If passed, the bill would require cable TV systems to carry local broadcast stations on up to one-third of their channels for the first year. After one year, the networks would choose between the "must-carry" right of their signals (which would not involve compensation) or negotiate for compensation from cable operators for the retransmission of the broadcasting signals. Cable systems may retransmit local broadcast channels without network permission or paying retransmission fees under current laws.

The networks obviously are for this measure. The cable operators are opposed.

The dispute began with the growth of the cable industry and deregulation in 1984. Deregulation resulted in the Federal Communications Commission's (FCC) defining of the term "effective competition" as: the presence of three broadcast signals in the cable subscribing area.

This interpretation freed 97 percent of the cable systems from price controls and resulted in more cable companies and greater program diversity and quality. On the other hand, it also escalated subscriber costs and consumer complaints grew regarding price and service.

The FCC then redefined "effective competition" in 1991 as the presence of six broadcast signals in the subscribing area or the presence of another multi-channel distributor (such as a competing cable operator, microwave or satellite system).

This implies that the FCC will regulate cable system rates in communities with fewer than six network stations.

The networks feel that this has not been done and that the cable systems have an unfair advantage by broadcasting their programming for free. Most networks believe that the

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

Lottery adds $115 million to Louisiana's treasury

When neighboring Louisiana came in with a report the other day on the first year's operation of its lottery, the impressiveness of the numbers could scarcely be lost on Mississippians who will decide the fate of a lottery here on Nov. 3.

Sales of Louisiana lottery tickets totalled $475 million, far exceeding projections the first year of $250-$300 million. No small amount of those sales came from Mississippians who journeyed in droves to nearby outlets to play the lottery.

The other part of the Louisiana lottery story, how much goes to the state treasury, is equally impressive. So far, the Louisiana Lottery Corporation has deposited $115 million in the treasury, even though it was not required to turn over any money in the first 12 months because of startup costs.

Based on a full fiscal year, the Louisiana lottery will therefore produce $150 million net revenue to the state. That ain't hay as they say.

While no lottery backer in Mississippi right now wants to stick his neck out to predict how much a lottery could produce here, the projection of $60 million made by the Mabus administration, which was ridiculed, may not be too far off.

Not unimportantly, the Louisiana lottery has been totally free of scandal, relieving the concerns of many who were haunted by the spectre of the gigantic Louisiana scandal in the 1870s, which was a privately chartered lottery company.

A great deal of credit for the success of the state's present lottery evidently goes to the top-flight man brought in to run it - Keri Brickman, formerly the legal counsel for the Illinois lottery.

Louisiana started out in September, 1991 with only the $1.00 scratch-off games, which have instant small-stakes winners. The Lotto jackpot drawing every Saturday with jackpots in excess of $1 million came on line in January. So far, the largest pot has been $12.5 million.

Unlike the national experience in states which offer both the lure of the Lotto jackpot alongside the low-stakes scratch-off games, more Louisianians by nearly 40 percent play the scratch-off games.

Alexander said the thrust of the campaign will be to show that a lottery "will take a lot of money out of the economy and will raise little money for the state."

His estimate is for a Mississippi lottery to bring in at maximum $20 million a year. "That's only 1 percent of the total state operating budget, and only a drop in the bucket," Alexander contended. Even if dedicated to education, he said, "it would be just an illusion."

Alexander said his group "knows we are underdogs (in the lottery vote), and we're going to have to change a lot of minds."

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

From the Mississippi Economic Council

The unit system works

The issue of the county unit form of government may be back on the ballot in approximately 24 counties this November, based on petitions submitted before the Sept. 4 deadline.

A study of county financial records of unit system counties where petitions were filed generally reveal figures that beat system proponents don't want to hear: More money is being spent on road materials, but better and safer roads are being built and maintained. The number of full-time road employees is decreasing. Centralized repair and equipment facilities are reducing waste.

And, another point that we've made before—the job of county supervisor doesn't center around providing culverts or paving roads. There are other issues which supervisors must deal with as well, including education, law enforcement, welfare and county judicial issues. For supervisors to make the beat system and road management the focus of their responsibilities does a disservice to the people they represent and the job of supervisor itself.

There is a simple message that needs to go out to the people in Adams, Chickasaw, Clarke, Copiah, Forrest, Hancock, Itawamba, Jefferson, Jones, Kemper, Lamar, Leake, Lee, Lincoln, Marshall, Monroe, Montgomery, Panola, Pike, Simpson, Stone, Tate, Union and Yazoo Counties.

The message is that the unit system works, and it must be supported when you go to the polls in November.

Anti-litter hotlines

Hotlines have been implemented for people in Bay St. Louis and outside the city limits to call if they see someone toss trash out of a vehicle.

If you see someone do this, memorize or write down the vehicle's license number and call the appropriate hotline number. A recording will instruct you as to how to report the violation.

After the vehicle registration is traced, a letter will be sent by the appropriate authority to the vehicle owner. The letter does not accuse the vehicle owner of throwing the trash, but states that an occupant of a vehicle which is or was owned by that person was seen throwing trash out of the vehicle.

The letter states that no charges are being filed at the time the letter is issued, but also reminds the person that littering is illegal and carries a $250 fine.

The numbers to call are 255-6234 for a violation witnessed in Bay St. Louis, and 255-6246 for one witnessed in the county.

STREET TALK

Do you feel the federal government should re-regulate cable television?

"Sure do. We need the programming today to keep us informed. It will help the consumer to receive better service."

Max Morel
Waveland

"If the regulations help to decrease the cost of cable, yes. But the way things are now, many senior citizens will be dropping cable and going back to an antenna should the cost continue to increase."

Rosemary Ranelli
Bay St. Louis

"They should do something with them. The way I see it, they are a monopoly. I recently called for service, and it was $70 to get hooked up. That's ridiculous. They need to get some competition involved."

Anthony Hawthorne
Bay St. Louis

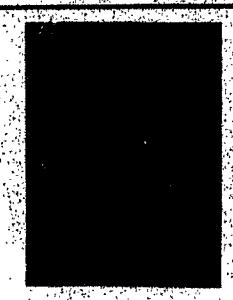

"Yes, they should lower the cost of basic services."

Rodney Ridenour

"It really depends on who's paying to get the satellites in space. If the government foots the bill to place the satellites, they should have some say. If the cable is paying to have them sent up, then the government shouldn't have any say."

Commodity distribution set Sept. 24

The Hancock County Department of Human Services will distribute cornmeal, flour, canned pork, butter and applesauce to all eligible recipients Thursday, Sept. 24, at the Civic Center on Longfellow Road from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Eligibility is based on household size and income. All individuals and households who receive food stamps are automatically eligible.

Low-income individuals and households who do not receive food stamps but wish to participate in the distribution must apply to the Hancock County Department of Human Services. These applications are not always taken every day. Call 467-4565 to find out when to apply.

All eligible recipients must have a commodity voucher which must be signed by them and presented at the time commodities are picked up. One person may pick up commodities for two eligible recipients.

Surplus commodities are issued through The Emergency Food Assistance Program of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The program is available to all eligible recipients regardless of race, color, national origin, religion, age, sex or handicap.

For more information, contact the Hancock County Department of Human Services at 467-4565.

Cheryl Bennett

Bennett seeks re-election to District II school board seat

Cheryl Bennett announces her candidacy for re-election for Hancock County School Board District II in the Nov. 3 General Election.

Bennett, 36, is employed as chief of Visitors Center Operations for Johnson Controls Inc. at NASA's Stennis Space Center. She resides in Pearlington, is married to Gary Bennett, and has two daughters, Jamie and Jackie, who are enrolled at Hancock High School.

Bennett cites her experience in education; having served on the school board over the past several months; her classroom experience, as well as her involvement in education throughout Mississippi, as primary reasons for seeking re-election.

"I feel my experience in education and in the business community have been assets to the school district, and I would like to continue to contribute to the education of the children in Hancock County."

"The Hancock County School System has made tremendous strides over the past few years, and is well on its way to being a leader in education for Southwest Mississippi.

"Our facilities are some of the finest on the Coast and in Southwest Mississippi; but what is most important is what goes on inside those buildings. The community has provided us with the most important component to succeed in education, the students."

"Our teachers are some of the best in Mississippi and are tasked with the responsibility of assisting the parents of Hancock County in their child's educational and social growth.

"There are still numerous teacher needs which should be addressed to enable our staff to achieve their educational goals. I will continue to work with the district in obtaining whatever it takes to prepare our students for the challenges of tomorrow."

Bennett is responsible for the operations of the Visitors Center programs at Stennis Space Center. She is actively involved in the "Adopt-A-School" program at Stennis and coordinates the Johnson Control's "Partnership in Education" with the adopted schools.

"I have enjoyed the privilege of serving on the board over the past several months. Being a school board member and playing a part in the educational process which is shaping and molding those students who will lead us into the 21st Century has been a very rewarding experience and one of which I hope to continue to be a part."

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

If you're looking for a tasty way to use up all that extra garden produce, these end-of-summer days, or the bounty which you've brought home from the markets, why not turn to ratatouille, that marvelous vegetable medley of flavors from France's Provence region? I usually cook it in larger batches, and enjoy it hot or cold, as vegetable or snack, or as a tasty topping for pasta.

There are many variations of ratatouille, a sort of French vegetable stew, but most versions star eggplant, fresh ripe tomatoes, onions and garlic, along with bell (green) peppers and ripe olives—but, I seldom cook it precisely the same way twice in succession! Here's an easy:

RATATOUILLE

2 onions, peeled and thinly sliced or chopped
2 cloves garlic, minced
1/2 cup olive oil
1 medium eggplant, peeled and cut into small cubes or coarsely chopped
3 or 4 medium tomatoes, chopped

A bell (green) pepper, seeded and cut into short strips
2 small zucchini, sliced or chopped

Bay leaf

Pepper, salt optional

Dash of basil

Saute the onion and garlic in the olive oil. Add the remaining vegetables, mixing well together. Cook over a low fire, stirring as the melange cooks. Add seasonings, cover, and simmer over a low flame for approximately a half hour, perhaps a little longer, taking care lest the mixture scorch.

When the vegetables are tender, remove the cover, and cook for a few minutes more until the mixture thickens—and, of course, remove the bay leaf before serving.

I like to serve ratatouille at room temperature with ripe olives added, on small toast rounds or in toast cups, or atop small, thin slices of toasted French bread.

FISHIN' Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

It's time to go fishin' y'all. Looks like the action has started for those folks who savor the "Biloxi Bacon." Quite a few very large schools of mullet have been seen traveling under the Bay St. Louis bridge early in the morning.

I have heard quite a few old timers remark as to how surprised they are as to the extremely large size of the mullet that are moving through the area. It seems that not only are the mullet larger than they have been in the past few years, but there seems to be at least double or may be triple the number that have shown up in years past.

Very few of the mullet have eggs or roe in them at this time. The few that have been caught, that had roe in them had very small, immature egg sacks.

For those cast net fishermen who like their mullet, now is the time to get busy as folks who net mullet to obtain their eggs for foreign markets will surely start to get active in the next couple of weeks and scatter the schools.

A couple of weeks ago I noticed that the water along the seawall was churning and whirlpools were forming, for no apparent reason, in the shallow water. Since I was working a

Mr. Champ in hopes of hooking a trout or a flat fish, I cast the silver spoon into the middle of the whirlpool.

Wow, I hooked something that immediately started my drag to singeing. The fish took out about 20 years of line before I could get him turned around. After a strong fight all the way in to shore I discovered that I had hooked a Pogy. That's right—a Pogy. Talk about surprised.

No, the Pogy did not have the spoon in his mouth, he was snagged. Since the trout fishing was very slow, I made a few more casts and managed to wear out my arm catching Pogy. Pound for pound, these fish fight harder than any fish that I have caught lately.

This episode started me asking questions about Pogies and the Pogy fishing industry. First of all, the proper name for the Pogy is Menhaden. As far as the Menhaden industry goes I have to say, "Man, those guys are really professionals. They have their own biologists, and they closely monitor the health of the lowly Pogy with scientific precision."

The often heard criticism that the Pogy boats catch every type of fish that swims is just not true. It is true that the Pogy boats have big nets. It is true that they use airplanes to spot the schools.

Mullet abundant in area; piers full of fishing families

However, the Pogies become so densely packed in their schools that they deplete the oxygen in the water to a level that most other fish cannot tolerate. The result is that their nets come up with a catch that is almost totally Menhaden. The game fish don't have enough oxygen to survive in and around the schools of Menhaden so they get out of Dodge. Pretty neat, huh?

Looks like the Menhaden fishing industry, or as known by its more common name of the Pogy fishing industry, is an example of a fishery that is doing everything scientifically possible to ensure the future of the resource. Incidentally, I understand almost all of the catch of Pogy is used as cat food.

Went on a seawall and pier checking sojourn this past week to get a first hand eyeball account of the fishin' fun goings on.

Started down by Cedar Point where two fishermen, names unknown, told me that they caught a green trout that weighed about 9 and one-half pounds in the Bayou Phillip area.

Ulman Street Pier: Robert and Hon Semore with their children, Wayne, 3, and Polly, 5, caught a few croakers using "worms?" Chyrene Singletary—her age was given as adult—caught about 5 or 6 white trout. Her husband, Paul Singletary, said this was his first time out and all he seems able to do is feed the fish. He called that contributing to the ecology as he was not catching fish he was only feeding them. Norman Singletary said he was just having fun no matter what he did or did not catch.

Pete McRay (adult) stated that he caught one eel all night. "You know, those things look like snakes."

Sammy Green, 14, decided that he had enough baseball for one day so he went fishin' with his granddaddy this night.

Gill net, oyster season hearings set Sept. 23

The Bureau of Marine Resources will conduct three public hearings this month, to discuss proposed changes in the state's gill net ordinance and the upcoming oyster season.

Meetings will be held, beginning at 7 p.m. in the following locations:

Tuesday, Sept. 22, at the Marine Education Center in Biloxi.

Wednesday, Sept. 23, at the Hancock County Courthouse in Oyster season will be discussed first at each hearing. Proposed changes in the gill net ordinances include a seasonal increase in mesh size from three inches to 3½ inches for mullet fishing each year from Nov. 1 to Dec. 31.

In regard to oyster season, proposed opening dates, sack limits and reefs to open will be discussed.

Final soccer registration set Saturday

Bay Area Youth Soccer will hold final registration for the fall season Saturday, Sept. 19 from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. at the Mississippi Power Building located on the corner of Hwy. 90 and Dunbar Avenue in Bay St. Louis.

Registration fee is $30 which includes the cost of the uniform.

All boys and girls ages 5-18 are invited to participate. Each youth player gets to play at least 50% of each game, regardless of skill. Proof of age required for new players.

The fall season will begin Oct. 10 with a fun tournament and will end the last week in November. The spring season will begin in February and will end the last of March. The registration fee covers both seasons.

All players will need shin guards and soccer cleats or tennis shoes.

Teams will be selected on Sunday, Sept. 20.

For additional information, contact Richard Flowers, BAYS registrar at 467-0474.

Fishin'

Daniel Buskin, 16, and friend "Ar Man" Victoria caught a few cats with the advice of Mercedes DeVilla. Incidentally, Mercedes said she only wanted to catch a cool breeze.

The big catch was by a cast net family, Greg Fucich Jr., 11; John Watzke, 14, the ace net thrower; Justin, 9; Dennis, 9, and Pam "Caboose" Fucich, 8. Their method was to walk along the pier until they spotted a school of mullet, then throw the net on top of them. When they would bring up a net full of mullet there would be much screaming, giggling and scrambling, until the entire catch found its way into their ice chest.

Ladner Pier: Thankfully there is no hurricane damage and only a few lights were knocked out.

Greg Dupier, 12, said he caught a "bunch" using regulation dead shrimp. He did not say what type of "bunch."

Scott and Luci Hackaday and Nicholas, 10, of San Antonio, Texas, said they had been looking all week for the best spot to fish and they think they found it in Ladner Pier. They caught at least one white trout while I was talking to them. They planned to eat it for supper.

The ranger reported that Mike Reed caught a 40-inch Red and Marshall Miller caught a 45-inch red using pieces of the same bait—cut cel. At least three flounders over six pounds each and several Spanish Mackerel were caught this past week on the pier.

The Ranger reports that they have a phone on hand in the rangers office that can be used by parents to have their kids call home to be picked up or for other similar emergencies.

This week's wonderful wise words: Fishin' is good family fun. Bass and specks in Bayou LaCroix, turtle.

Little Zion Church wins softball tourney

The Hancock County Ministers and Wives Association Church Softball League recently ended its second season with a double-elimination tournament.

Little Zion Baptist Church, coached by Shondel Dawson, Stacy Coe, Taaya Dawson and Mark Lemay, won the tournament, which was held August 29 at McDonald Field in Bay St. Louis.

During regular season play, Little Zion and Valena C. Jones United Methodist Church, coached by Lexie Haynes and Benjamin Robertson, were tied for first. St. Rock United Methodist, the only team to defeat Little Zion, was second. St. Rock was coached by Willie Moody, Dwayne Antoine and Rev. Lee Morris.

Among those contributing to the success of the league's second season were the volunteer umpires and officials: Willie Bradley, Saunders Bell, Lexie Haynes, Teddy Haynes, Benjamin Robertson, Lonnie Bradley and Kevin Hill.

An awards banquet was held at Gulfside Assembly United Methodist Church in Waveland at the close of the season. The banquet featured a sermonette by Rev. Kenneth Hamilton and a review of the season's highlights by Willie Bradley.

College Football Highlights

For Sept. 19

Arkansas makes its inaugural appearance in the South-east Conference Saturday, taking on the first of seven league foes. The Razorbacks meet Alabama in Little Rock. Arkansas finished in a 3-way tie for second place in the Southwest Conference last fall with an overall 6-5 record.

Georgia whipped the Hogs 24-15 in last year's Independence Bowl. The Crimson Tide, 10-1 in 1991, beat Colorado in the Blockbuster Bowl 30-25, and they may be the first of seven very tough opponents for Arkansas. The winner, Alabama.

The offensive power in the Atlantic Coast Conference last year was Virginia, scoring 313 points in an 8-2-1 season. However, the Cavaliers were smothered in the Gator Bowl by Oklahoma 43-14. Virginia hosts Georgia Tech in the opening conference match for the Yellow Jackets. Playing at home, the Cavs are favored. Tech won the meeting last fall, 24-21.

On the strength of North Carolina State's opening 24-14 upset win over Iowa at the Meadowlands in late August, the upcoming match-up between Florida State and the Wolfpack could be most interesting. Although State is playing at home against the powerful Seminoles, it does rate as the underdog. The Pack was 9-2 last season and was upset by East Carolina in the Peach Bowl, 37-34.

Two of the perennial powers in the Pac-10 Conference (but not so last fall) go on the road this third week of the college season. Southern Cal visits Oklahoma and U.C.L.A. travels to Brigham Young.

The last time the Sooners and Trojans got together was in 1988, Southern Cal winning 23-7. The Bruins of U.C.L.A. slipped by the B.Y.U. Cougars last season 27-23. Tough to call so early in the season, but, U.C.L.A. and Oklahoma.

Finally, in a big one in Seattle, national champion Washington entertains Nebraska. The Huskies won the match-up last fall, 36-21, and are favored again.

Forecasting statix for the first Saturday, September 5th: 133 right and 47 wrong for a .739 average.

NFL Forecast for Sunday and Monday, Sept. 20-21

Buffalo, 31, INDIANAPOLIS, 13

Bills rolled over Colts twice last fall, 42-6, 35-7. Buffalo ran up 276 yards rushing in opening win, QB Jim Kelly leading Bills to 28-0 halftime lead in second, passing for 3 TDs.

Dallas, 30—Phoenix, 10

RB Emmitt Smith led Dallas to both wins over Cards last fall, running for 182 yards, scoring two TDs in first 17-9 win. Smith scored three more TDs in second victory, a 27-7 win.

Green Bay, 21—Cincinnati, 20

Teams have met just 6 times since 1971, Bengals leading series 4-2; '91 Packers were 4-12, Cinc. 3-13. G.B. lost opener to Vikes in OT, 23-20. Bengals upset Seahawks 21-3.

Houston, 26—Kansas City 24

In Monday Nite in Houston last fall, Oiler QB Warren Moon completed 29 of 38 passes for 233 yards with no interceptions, Houston winning 17-7. Oilers won 7 of 8 at home in '91.

L. A. Raiders, 24—Cleveland, 13

Raiders lead series 10-2, including two post-season contests after losing 8 straight. Browns finally won last meeting in 1987, both started '92 season on road, both teams lost.

Miami, 23, L. A. Rams, 10

Dolphins have won last three match-ups vs Rams, lead series 4-1 that started in 1971. Rams took 40-7 shellacking from Bills in '92 season opener. Miami should win 4th straight.

Minnesota, 27—Tampa Bay, 24

After losing twice to Bucs in 1990, first time in their series, Vikings came back last fall to win both meetings. Minn. won 28-13 at home on strength of 4 FGs, won second 26-24.

New England, 17, Seattle, 16

Seattle has won 3 of last 4 from Pats, including come-from-behind 33-20 win in Foxboro in '90. N.E. held 20-19 lead in 4th quarter, Seahawks scoring 14 points in last 3 minutes.

New Orleans, 20—Atlanta, 17

Teams met three times last fall during season, Falcons lost first 27-6, then won 23-20 in OT. Atlanta rallied to win rubber game (in playoffs) after trailing 27-20 at the half.

Philadelphia, 23—Denver, 20

These two put on thriller in last meeting in Denver in 1989. Eagles held 21-7 lead in 3rd quarter, Broncos rallying to take 24-21 lead. Eagles won 28-24 after fumble recovery.

Pittsburgh, 27—San Diego, 23

Pitt looking for 4th straight win over Chargers, beating them on opening day last fall, 26-20. S.D. rallied form 19-3 4th quarter deficit, scoring 17 points to almost pull it out.

San Francisco, 30—New York Jets, 17

49ers lead series with Jets 5-1. NY's only win coming nine years ago. S.F. beat Jets in NY in 1989, 23-10. 49ers losing two QBs in that game. This one might be closer.

Washington, 34—Detroit, 23

On way to winning Super Bowl XXVI, Redskins won 14th and 15th straight over Lions in '91. They destroyed Lions in season opener 45-0, then whipped them again in NFC title game 41-10.

Chicago, 24—New York Giants, 17

Monday. Last fall, Bears edged visiting Giants 20-17, blocking NY FG in last 15 seconds to preserve win. Giants had rallied from 13-0 deficit to 17-13 lead, but 42-yard TD run won game.

THE SEA COAST ECHO—THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1992 1B

A grand time...

Students, grandparents enjoy festivities at C.B. Murphy Elementary

Last Friday was "Grandparents Day" at Charles B. Murphy Elementary School in Peabody. This event—in its second year—was conceived by Hancock County School Superintendent Myrna Bourgeois and has been implemented by Charles B. Murphy Principal Tina Williams.

"Grandparents Day" is designed to compliment the existing Family Involvement Program, which has proven successful in integrating students' home lives with their academic studies.

Current plans are to expand the concept of Grandparents Day into a monthly format. Grandparents with special knowledge and expertise in arts, crafts, or education will be invited to come into the school once a month to teach special classes.

According to Bourgeois, "Our seniors have many talents which are not common among the younger parents."

The products of a more self-reliant and less automated era, many grandparents honed their talents, homecrafting and crafting items to a very high degree. These are resources which we would love to incorporate into our students' education," she said.

The day was a great success according to both students and grandparents. They enjoyed classroom get-to-know-you tours of the school and finally, a turkey and dressing lunch in the school cafeteria.

Sixth grade teacher Mrs. Lillian Bryan enjoyed the interaction between juniors and seniors. "Children share their favorite experiences with grandparents," she said.

Williams believed the experience is as beneficial for the grandparents as it is for the kids. "Grandparents don't have many outlets to participate in activities in Peabody," she said. "This program will help them to channel their energy."

Grandparents who are interested in participating in the program are invited to contact Williams at the school at 533-7574.

Sixth grade teacher Lillian Bryan addresses grandparents and grandkids in her classroom. "Children share their favorite experiences with their grandparents," she said.

Grandmother Mrs. Ada Hollis, left, and great-grandmother Mrs. Edith McBoom, enjoy lunch with granddaughter's friend Cindy Jimenez, fifth grade, and Jessica Gutiérrez, fifth grade. "I think it's wonderful. We really enjoyed it," said Mrs. McBoom.

Charles B. Murphy Elementary School Principal Tina Williams welcomes grandparents Mrs. Hazel Danvers and Mrs. Ethel Cuadrado to the school. They were accompanied by granddaughter Jennifer Glover, a third grade student.

One of the highlights of the day was a turkey and dressing lunch served in the school cafeteria. In bottom photo, Mrs. Augustine Garofalo and granddaughter Raquel Topey, sixth grade, prepare to receive their turkey and dressing lunch in the C. B. Murphy cafeteria.

Mrs. Dietta Acker, 74, has six grandchildren at C. B. Murphy, kindergarten through sixth grade. From left are grandkids William Lewis, Candice Acker, Dominique Acker, Theresa Jackson, Brent Acker, and Darius Acker.

Richard, Terrell among NRL summer apprentices

The Naval Research Laboratory (NRL) at Stennis Space Center introduced a Science and Engineering Apprenticeship Program this past summer for high school students.

The program was designed by the Department of Defense for high school students in an effort to encourage more students to pursue the scientific careers needed by the United States to meet the technological challenges of the future. The students were afforded the opportunity to learn from practical, on the job experience, under a mentor who is a scientist or engineer.

The United States anticipates a shortage of qualified scientists and engineers in the immediate future (particularly in certain fields such as aeronautical, electronic/electrical engineering and computer science).

The nation is faced with the challenge of finding and developing the technologically competent people needed to ensure academic excellence and research capability, and a strong national economy, defense, and industrial base.

Five students participated in this year's program: three 1992 seniors and two juniors. Each apprenticeship was tailored to the student's interests and capabilities and to the requirements of the research performed at NRL.

George Bennett, son of Alex and Toni Bennett of Carriere, worked with Dr. Richard H. Bennett, an oceanographer in the seafloor geosciences division, on identifying sand.

Sarah Mitchell, daughter of Lynn S. Lovell of Picayune, worked with Dr. Michael D. Richardson and Peter Fleischer, both oceanographers in the geoacoustics/geotechniques branch.

Tommy Upton, son of Chris and Becky Upton of Picayune, worked with Jean C. Rapp, a computer scientist in the numerical modeling division.

Josh Richard, son of Pam and Andy Buehler of Bay St. Louis, worked with Dr. Edward C. Mozley, research physicist, and Daniel E. Fraley, electronics technician, in the advanced sensor and survey branch of the mapping, charting and geodesy division.

His project required converting basic, rough pencil drawings to computerized schematics. These schematics were used in the design and fabrication of the data acquisition and logging system, one component of a joint effort between NRL, SSC, NRL Washington and Norway to develop and fabricate a fiber optic magnetic array system.

Trent Terrell, son of Rhoda Terrell of Bay St. Louis, worked with Dr. Joseph F. Gettrust and Mary M. Rowe, both geophysicists in the geology/geophysics branch of the seafloor geosciences division. His work focused on the effect the ocean floor has on the propagation of sound. By transferring underwater sound data from computer tapes, Terrell was able to produce hard copies of seismic information.

At the end of this summer's eight-week session, four of the students traveled to Washington, D.C. to attend the SEAP wrap-up sessions. More than 650 students from across the country gathered to present their papers to their peers, visit with their legislators, tour the Naval Research Laboratory in Washington and take in the sights of the nation's capital.

Kolodziej assists with hurricane relief efforts

When Chris Kolodziej left the pier at Naval Station, Norfolk, Va. on August 29, he was headed to do his part in rebuilding hurricane ravaged South Florida.

The 25-year-old lieutenant junior grade aboard the USS Ponce admitted that he didn't know quite what to expect even after reading the news reports that outlined the devastation caused by Andrew's 140 to 160 mph winds.

Kolodziej, the son of John and Sandra Kolodziej of Bay St. Louis, did know, however, that he was part of a large military relief and humanitarian assistance mission that would involve 22,500 servicemen and women. During the three day transit to Florida, Kolodziej concentrated on what was ahead.

"The ship is providing a very necessary service. There are lots of people without homes or food and we'll help these people rebuild their communities," said Kolodziej.

After arriving at the Port of Miami, the reality of the amount of destruction sobered the men of the Ponce. Describing the scene at nearby, hard-hit Homestead Air Force Base, one military officer said, "The tallest thing left standing there is a refrigerator."

Kolodziej said the Ponce's initial role in "Operation Help From the Sea" included the delivery to Miami's port of 22 tons of chilled and frozen food, 21 tons of dried food and other Kolodziej, who entered the service in 1989, is a sea-going pilot. "I help ferry supplies and personnel between the ships and from ship to shore. During the relief efforts, I'll be transporting food to those people out in the community who need it," he explained.

Although the opportunity to be involved in humanitarian work was not in the forefront of Kolodziej's thoughts when he joined the Navy, he soon discovered that this sort of mission is nothing new for the sea service.

Navy people have in the recent past provided assistance to victims of Hurricane Hugo and of the San Francisco earthquake, to the Kurds during Operation Provide Comfort, to Filipinos after the eruption of Mt. Pinatubo, and to Haitian migrants.

Even as relief efforts were underway for Hurricane Andrew, on the other side of the world, Navy men and women were helping the people of Guam deal with the aftermath of Typhoon Omar.

According to Kolodziej, the advantage of sending naval vessels to the scene of a natural disaster is that the ships like the Ponce are self-sufficient. Capable of making its own water and power, and bringing badly needed communications technology to an area where even the most basic of services have been destroyed, the Ponce also brings the additional assistance of skilled sailors who are ready to work.

MILITARY MENTIONS

OFFICER LANUM

Marine Warrant Officer Michael D. Lanum, whose wife, Melissa, is the daughter of Elana Moore of Bay St. Louis, was recently graduated from the Basic Warrant Officer School.

During the 10-week course at the Marine Corps Combat Development Command, Quantico, Va., Lanum was prepared as a newly-appointed Marine Warrant Officer for assignment to the Fleet Marine Force. His studies emphasized the professional personal and leadership responsibilities that accompany his new rank.

PVT SWEENEY

Marine Pvt. Brad E. Sweeney, a 1991 graduate of St. Stanislaus High School, recently completed recruit training.

During the training cycle at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, recruits are taught the basics of battlefield survival, introduced to typical military daily routine and personal and professional standards.

All recruits participate in an active physical conditioning program and gain proficiency in a variety of military skills including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close-order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline are emphasized throughout the cycle.

He joined the Marine Corps in May 1992.

2LT NECAISE

Mississippi National Guard Second Lieutenant John Philip Necaise of Bay St. Louis was graduated from Mississippi Military Academy Officer Candidate School August 8 at Camp Shelby, Miss.

Necaise completed a 14-month course that featured training on combined arms tactics, physical fitness, combat communications, leadership doctrine and ethics.

In their final training period, officer candidates were deployed to the field to undergo 12 days under simulated combat situations. Lack of sleep, long cross country movements, night training and leadership assignments without notice were some of the difficulties faced.

Necaise is a student at the University of Mississippi. He is a graduate of St. Stanislaus High School and is the son of John and Shirley Necaise of Bay St. Louis.

He has had two years of service in the National Guard.

MIDSHIPMAN ACKER

Navy Midshipman 4th Class Lee V. Acker, son of Beverly E. Acker of Pearl River, has been inducted into the U.S. Navy and is attending the U.S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md.

He and more than 1,200 classmates are being taught basic skills in seamanship, sailing, close-order drill, hand-to-hand combat and Navy customs and traditions.

After graduating from the U.S. Naval Academy, the four-year undergraduate college of the Navy, Acker will receive a bachelor of science degree and will graduate as a commissioned officer.

He is a 1991 graduate of Hancock High School.

LCPL BODIN

Marine Lance Cpl. Michael W. Bodin, a 1990 graduate of Bay High School, is currently participating in two major maritime exercises with 2nd Battalion, 3rd Marines, 1st Marine Expeditionary Brigade, Marine Corps Air Station, Kaneohe Bay, Hawaii.

The five-nation exercises, RIMPAC (Rim of the Pacific) '92, and Tandem Thrust include sailors, Marines, soldiers and Coast Guardsmen from Canada, Australia, The Republic of Korea, Japan and the United States.

He joined the Marine Corps in June 1990.

Staying home

I went on vacation last week and thoroughly enjoyed myself. I stayed home.

I know what you're thinking: "Vacation" and "stayed home" are a contradiction in terms. Am I right?

Well, for me they aren't a contradiction in terms.

When you need the time off to relax, but you can't afford Disney World, or even a road trip to Ocean Springs, what are you going to do? Sit around fuming, or enjoy the free time?

I went to cookout Monday, participated in a yard sale Saturday and browsed through the art tour Sunday. In between, I slept late, stayed up late watching my favorite TV shows, relaxed and just did whatever I felt like, which wasn't a lot.

You know, sometimes those stay-home-and-goof-off vacations are the best kind. They give you a chance to do nothing without feeling guilty.

Let's face it: if you go somewhere for your vacation, you probably will do something, whether you want to or not, because you think you have to.

If, for example, you drive to Orlando for a week, chances are you're going to end up at Disney World or Busch Gardens in Tampa. If you have children, you can make that "chances are" a "definitely," because no self-respecting youngster would dare pass up a chance to bug his parents into going to the

Brain Quest

Educational trivia game available at the library

Brain Quest, a marriage of flash cards and trivia games in a compact container, are now available at the Hancock County Library System.

The purpose of Brain Quest is to stimulate the minds of kids. It reassures the minds of parents. This fast-paced question-and-answer game recaptures the pleasure of learning and gives students in grades one through seven the thrill of showing off their knowledge.

It all started in France as an innovative way to help students with their studies. Called Les Incollables and introduced in the spring of 1990, it is already a national phenomenon with over 1.5 million copies sold. Now in America it keeps the innovation—but tests the information American kids need to know.

From dinosaurs to dangling participants to Huckleberry Finn, Brain Quest is based on curricula used in schools across the country.

The questions and answers are written by a textbook author with 25 years of experience; every grade is checked by an advisory board of teachers.

Inside each box are two decks of cards, with each deck hinged by a plastic bolt (keeping cards in the correct order).

Q and A cards alternate, and each category is coordinated by symbol. For example, first grade has 750 questions covering subjects such as math, reading and writing, while seventh grade has 1,500 questions—in smaller type) covering history, geography, science and more.

More information on Brain Quest is available by calling the City-County Public Library at 467-5282.

CEHS varsity cheerleaders

Coast Episcopal High School varsity cheerleaders attended the National Cheerleaders Association Summer Camp at the University of South Alabama in August. While at camp they received superior ratings each night, the Spirit Stick each night, the Safety First Award, the Team Award, and brought the Spirit Stick home to CEHS. Kneeling, from left, are Missy Mizell, captain; Whitney Eastman, co-captain; and Rebecca Dockens; standing, Barbara Groves, MiMi Ward and Brooke Ballard.

School districts seek info from parents of handicapped

The Bay St. Louis-Waveland and Hancock County School districts are participating in an ongoing state effort to locate and evaluate children from birth through age 21 who have handicaps and who are not enrolled in school.

The school district provides services for the following handicaps: speech/language, specific learning disabilities, educationally handicapped, visually impaired, hearing impaired, physically handicapped and emotionally handicapped.

Early identification of children in need of special educational experiences is most important to each child.

Furthermore, this information gathered from contacts with parents and other agencies will be used to help determine present and future program needs as progress is made toward a goal of providing free appropriate public education to all handicapped children in the Bay St. Louis-Waveland and Hancock County districts.

Information that could identify the handicapped individual is protected by the school district in accordance with the Family Rights and Privacy Act and EHAB.

Parents have the right to inspect information about a child and challenge its accuracy.

Persons with handicapped children who are 21 years old or younger, are encouraged to contact the Bay St. Louis-Waveland and Hancock County schools' Child Find coordinator, Sherry M. Ponder, at 740 Dunbar Ave., Bay St. Louis, 467-1021 or 467-2081.

Ponder will assist parents in having their children evaluated and placed in, or referred to appropriate programs.

Lending a hand

St. Clare kindergarten children help contribute food for the victims of Hurricane Andrew. Every student brought canned goods and offered prayers for those affected by the storm in Florida and Louisiana.

Youth Ballet auditions set

The Coast Youth Ballet Ensemble will hold auditions for dancers Saturday, 10 a.m.-noon, at the New Ballet Place studio, 356 Main Street, Bay St. Louis.

To be eligible, dancers must be 10 years or older with at least three years of classical ballet training and must be on pointe or going on pointe this school year.

Dancers should arrive by 9:45, wear leotard and tights, and bring ballet and pointe shoes. Artistic director Sharon Loiacano will give the free class.

Ponder will assist parents in having their children evaluated and placed in, or referred to appropriate programs.

All applications must be received no later than October 28, 1992 at 5:00 p.m.

Entrance exam for the Sheriff's Department will be given November 3, 1992 at 6:30 p.m. in the courtroom of the Hancock County Courthouse.

The County of Hancock does not discriminate on the basis of race, creed, color, national origin, sex, religion, age and handicapped status in employment or the provision of service.

Hancock County Sheriff's Office, Civil Service Commission, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi

NOTICE CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION

Applications are now being taken for the Hancock County Sheriff's Department.

Applicants must conform to the Civil Service requirements in regard to age and residency, etc. Further information may be obtained by calling Lt. Gloria Tartavouille, 467-5101 between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. for the test of dispatchers, correctional officers and patrol officers.

All applications must be received no later than October 28, 1992 at 5:00 p.m. Entrance exam for the Sheriff's Department will be given November 3, 1992 at 6:30 p.m. in the courtroom of the Hancock County Courthouse.

The County of Hancock does not discriminate on the basis of race, creed, color, national origin, sex, religion, age and handicapped status in employment or the provision of service.

MISSISSIPPI DEPARTMENT OF WILDLIFE, FISHERIES & PARKS
Ordinance 5.008(i)

AN ORDINANCE TO ESTABLISH RESTRICTIONS GOVERNING THE USE OF NETS, FISH TRAPS AND POTS WITHIN THE TERRITORIAL WATERS OF THE STATE OF MISSISSIPPI, EXCLUDING CERTAIN CATCH LIMITATIONS AND QUOTAS.

The Mississippi Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries & Parks, meeting on August 20, 1992, adopted Notice of Intent Ordinance 5.008(i) and filed said notice with the Secretary of State, as required by Section 25-43-7, Miss. Code Ann. 1972.

Public hearings on Ordinance 5.008(i) will be held on Tuesday, September 22, at the Marine Education Center in Biloxi, Wednesday, September 23, 1992, at the Hancock County Courthouse, and Thursday, September 24, at the Harrison County Courthouse. The proposed ordinance will begin at 8:30 PM each evening following public comment on proposed oyster regulations at 7:00 PM. Copies of the proposed ordinance will be available at each hearing and are available prior to the public hearings at the State of Mississippi Marine Education Center during business hours. Written comments must be submitted to the Bureau of Marine Resources no later than September 24, 1992.

Notice is hereby given that Bay-Waveland Mini-Storage, 926 Highway 90, Waveland, Mississippi 39576, will sell to the highest bidder for cash the personal property of Daniel & Margaret Skinner, whose last known address is 107 Main Street, Waveland, MS 39576. The sale will take place at 1:00 P.M. at Bay-Waveland Mini-Storage, 926 Highway 90, Waveland, Mississippi 39576, on the 7th day of October, 1992.

Tips On Writing EFFECTIVE Classified Ads

► STICK TO THE FACTS

Prospective buyers need to know details, like the condition of the item for sale, the size, brand name, color and any other relevant information that would help them make a decision.

DISCOVER A NEW WORLD OF OPPORTUNITY.

► BE HONEST

Aside from being unethical, exaggerating or misinforming potential buyers won't help you make a sale, and may only serve to lose a prospective buyers' trust. Even if they come to look at what you have to sell, they'll be less likely to buy the item or trust you once they see they've been misled.

FIND A GOOD ELECTRICIAN

BE ON THE LOOKOUT FOR NEW AD-VENTURES

► SPELL IT OUT

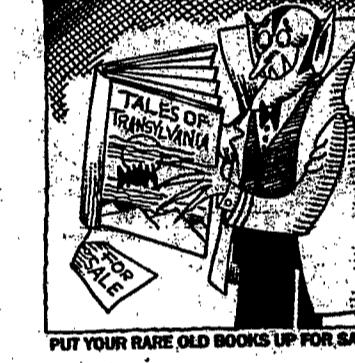

Abbreviations are not easily understood by many people and may even confuse a reader. It only takes them a second to pass over an ad because it doesn't seem clear, why let it be yours because you abbreviated a description?

SELL AN OLD FAMILY HEIRLOOM

► THE BOTTOM LINE

State the price. You'll save yourself the hassle of having to answer calls from prospects who, upon learning the price, are not really interested. Price is the first thing they'll look for when reading your ad, and when prospects know the price, you'll know you have a serious buyer on the line.

PUT YOUR RARE OLD BOOKS UP FOR SALE

► BE THERE

List the best hours to call and make sure you're at home. If you don't list a specific time, you could be flooded with calls any time of the day or night. And when you're not at home to take calls, most likely, they won't call back.

► ASK US

If you aren't sure how to word your ad or what features to include, why not ask us? Our professionals on staff know how to create an effective ad that sells, they're always willing to help, and there's no charge!

WRITE YOUR OWN CLASSIFIED AD!
